Dear Josh:

Early this month I attended the Board meeting of the Weizmann Institute; last week I visited Mr. Morris Levinson, President of the American Committee, in New York. The Institute is facing very serious financial problems and desperately needs our help. Most distressing is the lack of money, organization and leadership in the American community.

I wonder whether you can meet at Stanford with the other Bay Area members of the Board to discuss these problems so that we can find some ways toward their solution.

Please mark the dates and times on the enclosed calendar that you find suitable for such a meeting. Call me (office: 497-6167; home: 851-0287) if you have any questions in the meantime.

Sincerely,

Arthur Kornberg
